Our Photographer

A big "Thank you," to Mr. Kurrle for all the time and effort he has spent in taking the pictures for our Yearbook. Also, "Thank you," to all the teachers who so graciously allowed their classes to be interrupted in order that we might get the pictures.

Foreign Student

Carmen Maria Zuniga Sanudo (Carmen Zuniga), 18 year-old exchange student from Peru, lives in Chesaning with Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Adams of 222 S. Clark Street and their daughter, Wilma, 17, a senior at Chesaning Union High School.

In Piura, Piura, Carmen lives her mother, Leonor, who is a teacher. She has two sisters, Maruja, 21 and Martha, 16 and three brothers, John, 22, Frank, 20, and Gustavo, 14. Her father, Albert Zunigo Carlen, who was a Peruvian diplomat, is deceased.

A career in the footsteps of her father is the future plans of Carmen. She has finished high school in Peru and will attend college when she returns.

The roots of American government deep into the past. Our spring into being as at the word was it pulled out of thin air by some political magician's wand. Not French, Spanish, Dutch, Norwegian, and other Europeans settled in parts of what is now the United States. But it was the English who came in the largest numbers. And it was the English who named the thirteen colonies that stretched for 1,300 miles along the Atlantic coast.

These early pioneers who "closed the wilderness and fought off the Indians and had to break out roads across the mountains in search of a way to their future in the New World" came from here in search of freedom. They came here to seek a new life.

Chapter 3 IN THE BEGINNINGS OF THE UNITED STATES

THE COLONIAL PERIOD

Founding Fathers at Philadelphia in the summer of 1787. Right from the development of a traditional form of government, we should now review the basic points of these beginnings.

Plenty brought with them, though mostly political culture and certain traditions, and ideas of a government based on the English model for working and administering a colony.

These early settlers also brought with them a desire to live in a free society, and to have a government that would not interfere with their personal freedoms.

They brought with them, too, the twin ideals of limited government and civil liberties. That is, that government is not all-powerful, that government is limited in what it may do, and, especially, that it is limited in the sense

SETTLERS AT WORK

Early Americans had to live together in harmony, or they would not survive. This was the "government in order to live," the beginning of our government today.

of which are to be found today county, town, jury, sheriff, coroner, and justice of the peace, for example. And all of these were well-known in England long before the first Englishmen heard of America.

(3) The Concept of Limited Government and Civil Liberties

They brought with them, too, the twin ideals of limited government and civil liberties. That is, that government is not all-powerful, that government is limited in what it may do, and, especially, that it is limited in the sense that each man has certain rights that government cannot injure or take away. These great principles of freedom were proclaimed in such historic English documents as the Magna Carta of 1215, the Petition of Right in 1628, and the Bill of Rights and the Act of Toleration in 1689.

(4) The Concept of Representative Government. A third vitally important concept brought to America in English ships was that of representative government. For centuries there had been developing in England the
